WE ARE IN WAR!

The World's Worst Outlaw
Finally Forced the Awful Step

The Country Stands Almost Solidly Behind the President in the Great Crisis

The Senate has passed resolutions recognizing state of war, $2 to 6. The House will do likewise and then the war will be on in earnest.

An array of a million is to be assembled and drilled. Young men from 18 to 22, unmarried, will probably be the first called, in addition to volunteers of other ages.

President Wilson went before Congress last Monday evening at 8:50 and asked Congress to recognize the fact that a state of war exists.

President Wilson's appearance before Congress was marked by a scene of the greatest enthusiasm ever shown since he began the practice of delivering his addresses in person. Crowds on the outside of the Capitol cheered him frantically as he entered and as he left. Congress roared cheer after cheer in an outburst of patriotic enthusiasm.

President Wilson, said in part:

"I have called Congress into extraordinary session because there are serious, very serious, choices of policy to be made, and made immediately, which it was neither right nor constitutionally permissible that I should assume the responsibility of making.

Refers To Unrestricted Warfare.

"On the third of February last, I officially laid before you the extraordinary announcement of the Imperial German Government that on and after the first day of February it was its purpose to put aside all restraints of law or of humanity and use its submarines to sink every vessel that sought to approach either the ports of Great Britain and Ireland or the western coasts of Europe or any of the ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean. That had seemed to be the object of the German submarine warfare earlier in the war, but since April of last year the Imperial government had somewhat restrained the commanders of its undersea craft in conformity with its promise then given to us that passenger boats should not be sunk and that due warning would be given to all others, when no resistance was offered or escape attempted and care taken that their crews were given at least a fair chance to save their lives in open boats. The precautions taken, were meager and haphazard enough, as was provided in distressing instance after instance in the progress of the cruel and unmanly business, but a certain degree of restraint was observed.

Practice Wanton Slaughter.

"The new policy has swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning, and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships, and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the prescribed areas by the German government itself, and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle.

"I was for a little while unable to believe that such things would in fact be done by any government that had hitherto subscribed to the humane practices of civilized nations. International law had its origin in the attempt to set up some law, which would be respected and observed upon the seas, where no nation had right of dominance and where lay the free highways of the world. By painful stage after stage has that law been built up with meagre enough results, indeed, after all was accomplished that could be accomplished, but always with a clear view, at least, of what the heart and conscience of mankind demanded.

Scruples Are Thrown Aside.

"This minimum of right the German government has swept aside under the plea of retaliation and necessity, and because it had no weapons which it could use at sea except these, which it is impossible to employ as it is employing them without throwing to the winds of scruples of humanity or of respect for the understandings that were supposed to underlie the intercourse of the world.

"I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women and children, engaged in pursuits which have always, even in the darkest periods of modern history been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful and innocent people cannot be.

Warfare Against Mankind.

"The present submarine warfare against mankind. It is a war against all nations. American ships have been sunk, American lives taken, in ways which it has stirred us very deeply to learn of, but the ships and people of other neutral and friendly nations have been sunk and overwhelmed in the waters in the same way. There has been no discrimination. The challenge is to all mankind. Each nation must decide for itself how it will meet it. The choice we make for ourselves must be made with a moderation of counsel and a temperateness of judgment befitting our character and our motives as a nation. We must put excited feeling away. Our motive will not be revenge or the victorious assertion of the physical might of the nation, but only the vindication of right, of human right, of which we are only a single champion.

"There is one choice we cannot make, we are incapable of making. We will not choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored or violated. The wrongs against which we now array ourselves are not common wrongs; they cut to the very roots of human life.

Urges State Of War.

"With a profound sense of the solemn and eventful character of the step which we are taking and the grave responsibilities which it involves, but in unhesitating obedience to what I deem my constitutional duty, I advise that the Congress declare the recent course of the Imperial German Government to be in fact nothing less than war against the government and people of the United States; that it formally accept the status of belligerent which has thus been thrust upon it and that it take immediate steps of defense, but also to exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the government of the German empire to terms and end the war.

"What this will involve is clear. It will involve the utmost practicable cooperation in counsel and action with the governments now at war with Germany, and, as incident to that, the extension to these governments of the most liberal financial credits, in order that our resources may, as far as possible, be added to theirs. It will involve the organization and mobilization of the material resources of the country to supply the materials of war and serve the incidental needs of the nations in the most abundant, and yet the most economical and efficient way possible. It will involve the immediate full equipment of the navy in all respects, but particularly in supplying it with the best means of dealing with the enemy's submarines. It will involve the immediate addition to the armed forces of the United States already provided for by law in case of war, at least 500,000 men who should, in my opinion, be chosen upon the principle of universal liability to service, and also the authorization of subsequent additional increments of equal force so soon as they may be needed and can be handled in training.

Must Grant Credits.

"It will involve also, of course, the granting of adequate credits to the government, sustained, I hope, so far as they can equitably be sustained by the taxation. I say sustained so far as they may be equitable taxation, because it seems to me that it would be most unwise to base the credits which will now be necessary entirely upon money borrowed. It is our duty, I most respectfully urge, to protect our people so far as we may against the very serious hardships and evils which would likely arise out of the inflation which would be produced by vast loans.

Inform World Of Motives.

"While we do these things, these deeply momentous things, let us be very clear—and make very clear—to all the world what our motives and our objections are. My own thought has not been driven from its habitual and normal course by the unhappy events of the last two months, and I do not believe that the thoughts of the nation have been altered or clouded by them.

"I have exactly the same things in mind now that I had in mind when I January last; the same that I had in mind when I addressed the Congress on the 3d of February and on the 26th of February. Our object now, as then, is to vindicate the principles of peace and the justice in the life of the world as against selfish and autocratic power and to set up amongst the really free and self-governed peoples of the world such a concert of purpose and of action as will henceforth insure the observance of those principles.

Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its peoples, and the menace to that peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people. We have seen the last of their neutrality in such circumstances.

"We are at the beginning of an age in which it will be insisted that the same standards of conduct and of responsibility for wrong done shall be observed among nations and their governments that are observed among the individual citizens of civilized States.

"We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling towards them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval.

"It was a war determined upon as was used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days when peoples were nowhere consulted by their ruler and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow men as pawns and tools.

"Self-governed nations do not fill their neighbor states with spies or set the course of intrigue to bring about some critical posture of affairs which give them an opportunity to strike and make conquest. Such designs can be successfully worked only under cover and where no one has the right to ask questions.

"It is a distressing and oppressive duty gentlemen of the Congress, which I have performed in thus addressing you. There are, it may be, many months of fiery trial and sacrifice ahead of us. It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance. But the right is at hand. To the things which we have always carried nearest our heart—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own Governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of rights by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free. To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other.

HERNY GRADY WEBB GIVEN SENTENCE OF 25 YEARS.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 3.—Henry Grady Webb, charged with having been a member of the gang which held up and robbed an express train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad near Central Station, W. Va., on October 9, 1915, and escaped with $100,000 in unsigned currency, pleaded guilty in the United States District Court here to-day. He was sentenced to serve twenty-five years in the Atlanta penitentiary. Eugene Diez, also an accomplice in the robbery, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve ten years imprisonment. Webb was arrested in Kansas City, where under the name of White, he was attending a medical school.

Union Service at Baptist Church

The first of the three union services announced for this week at the Baptist church took place Wednesday night. The public was kept in ignorance as to which of the three participating pastors would preach the first night, and no announcement has been made as to who will preach at the other services. The song service was led by Rev. A. C. Bostwick, of the M. E. Church, and it was not until he called Rev. W. H. Foglesong to the pulpit that the secret was out. Rev. Bostwick had already explained the object of the meetings. They grew out of two facts—the absolute harmony existing between all of Louisville's active ministers, and the occasion of Easter week. The pastors were moved to bring together the people of all congregations, and outsiders as well, in extra services appropriate to the great season now upon us. Rev. Foglesong chose a subject rather than a text—"From Gethsemane to Golgotha." The sermon breathed the spirit of Easter-tide, with practical treatment and present-day application. It was wisely appropriate and we believe has served to bring his hearers into a better appreciation of the sacred season now at hand.

There were a number of prayers and songs. The congregation was large, but there was room for more. Everybody is invited to attend the meetings of Thursday and Friday night, at the Baptist church.

DEPUTY SHERIFF WOUNDED NINE TIMES AT LAYMAN.

Wilburn Taylor, deputy Sheriff of Harlan-co., was dangerously shot last Friday near his home in Layman, Ky., when he attempted to arrest two men who were drinking. He was shot almost to pieces, being hit nine times. One of his adversaries also was wounded.

Mr. Taylor is a prominent mountain school teacher.

BRACKEN KILLED.

O. K. Bracken, brakeman on extra west number 905, C. & O. freight train was struck by passenger train number two Monday near Lloyd, below Portsmouth, and instantly killed. He was standing on the track waiting for orders for his train to move when he was hit by the fast train. The deceased was a brother of H. G. Black, a brakeman on the Big Sandy division.

SPINAL MENINGITIS.

Miss Lottie Carroll, age 23, died last Sunday of meningitis at the home of Fred Massie near the Forks of Hurricane, W. Va., after an illness of only a few days. She was the daughter of Bill Carroll, and had made her home at Mr. Massie's for several years.

FISCAL COURT APPROPRIATES.

Miss Chinn, District Agent of Home Demonstration work in eastern Kentucky, addressed the Fiscal Court of Lawrence county Tuesday, April 3rd, asking for an appropriation of $250 to be used in employing a county agent for Girls Club Work. The court voted $150. Mr. Aug. Snyder taking the responsibility of the other $100 required.

A Good Roads Organization

The good roads meeting held Tuesday of this week at the court house was attended by a number of citizens from various parts of the county who are really interested in this great problem. The State official failed to appear, and no word was received from the department as to why he did not come. Mr. Wiley wrote several days ago that he had found he could not be here, as previously agreed, but that he would send a man.

The meeting was organized by electing Judge J. B. Clayton temporary chairman and Fred M. Vinson secretary. A permanent organization was effected by electing Augustus Snyder president and F. M. Vinson secretary.

Mr. J. F. Hatten presented a plan for an organization reaching to each voting precinct. This was amended by making the eight magisterial districts the units to work directly with the president and secretary. Then each magisterial district may organize by precincts if it so desire.

A committee consisting of J. H. McClure, S. H. Burton, F. M. Vinson and R. C. McClure was appointed to draft the by-laws or organization plan along the lines agreed upon.

The object of the organization is to get everybody to help on the roads in a systematic way and to develop a greater public spirit in the work. Thru organized effort there should come a general disposition to help on roads. If each citizen knew that every other citizen was ready to do something for the roads, he would gladly do his part. If everybody would fall into line we could have good dirt roads with comparatively slight effort. Stopping mudholes when they start and keeping ditches open constitutes the chief work to be performed. The county officials can do the rest.

It is intended to work in conjunction with the county officials. Great good will result if the proper community spirit is shown.

KENTUCKY COAL PROPERTY HAS EXCELLENT YEAR.

Baltimore, Md., March 29.—Nearly $2,500,000 was earned by the Elkhorn Coal Corporation, which is practically controlled by Baltimoreans, and which owns thousands of acres of valuable coal lands in the Elkhorn Valley of Kentucky.

In view of the recent reports that the United States Steel Corporation had made a bid of $40 a share for control of this company, the statement of earnings over last year was read with keen interest in local financial circles to-day.

Total earnings of the Elkhorn corporation from all sources during the twelve months ended December 31, 1916, were $2,457,453.09, while operating expenses, taxes, insurance and depreciation totaled $1,347,133.13. Net earnings from operations were $1,108,319.96.

The management of the Elkhorn Coal Corporation is opening up two new mines on its 25,000-acre tract in Kentucky, and in order to provide adequate railroad facilities for the transportation of coal mined from the property the Baltimore & Ohio railroad is constructing a new branch that will tap the mines.

KENTUCKY TROOPS AT KENOVA BRIDGE.

Kentucky troops are guarding the Chesapeake & Ohio railway bridge across the Big Sandy river at Kenova. The troops will guard both ends of the bridge.

The Norfolk & Western bridge at Kenova is being guarded by Ironton, Ohio, troops.

Hatfield Girl Gets $10,000

Huntington, March 30.—Miss Hazel Hatfield, daughter of former Governor and Mrs. H. D. Hatfield, of Huntington, has been bequeathed a considerable sum of money by her former college chum, Miss Ethel Stanton, who was one of the principals in a sensational suicide pact enacted in Portsmouth, N. H.

It is understood, according to reports from Cincinnati, O., that the legacy which goes to Miss Hatfield is $10,000.

Miss Hatfield and her mother are now in Cincinnati in response to a notice from Judge Charles E. Malsbury, executor of Miss Stanton's will to the effect that Miss Hatfield has been mentioned in the will. Miss Hatfield was in school in Philadelphia, Pa., when the notice from Judge Malsbury was received.

Miss Hatfield and the Miss Stanton became acquainted while they were at school together in Philadelphia, and later they attended Bryn Mawr. Miss Stanton, who was quite wealthy, visited not infrequently at the mansion of Governor and Mrs. Hatfield in Charleston.

They were accustomed to spending Christmas at the Governor's mansion and Miss Stanton was quite well known at the state capital.

There is quite an interesting story which leads up to the suicide pact in which Miss Stanton was one of the principals. Miss Stanton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stanton, her father being a railroad official. Mrs. Stanton was divorced from her husband and married T. A. Snider, known as the "ketchup king." Both Mr. and Mrs. Snider, the latter of whom was Miss Stanton's mother, were killed in an automobile accident. Mrs. Snider died about ten minutes after her second husband's death. There was an action at law to determine Miss Stanton's rights in her mother's property. This finally reached the highest court in England, where Miss Stanton won a victory receiving a large sum of money. Judge Malsbury, of Cincinnati, was Miss Stanton's counsel, and in Miss Stanton's will Judge Malsbury is also understood to be mentioned for a legacy of $10,000. This legacy is said to be in recognition of Judge Malsbury's services as an attorney in a hard fought legal case.

Miss Stanton, for about a year prior to her death, was attending school in Massachusetts. She became acquainted with Miss Peggy Spaulding, of Newton, Mass., and they became fast friends. Relatives of Miss Spaulding, according to reports received here, sought to break up the friendship of Miss Spaulding and Miss Stanton, and both girls became despondent. They went to a restaurant in Portsmouth and after eating a hearty meal both Miss Stanton and Miss Spaulding committed suicide. Telegraphic reports of the affair were to the effect that the girls killed themselves through a suicide pact. This was only a week or so ago. For more than a year prior to that time Miss Hatfield had not seen her former chum, Miss Stanton. Her first intelligence of her death was in the newspapers, followed by the notice from Judge Malsbury to the effect that Miss Hatfield had been bequeathed a sum of money.

Along with the legacy to Miss Hatfield, Miss Stanton bequeathed $10,000 to another girl friend, Miss Margaret Grayson, who lives near Little Rock, Ark.

PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME ON BOLTS FORK

Mr. J. B. Leslie, age 87 years, a well known citizen of Boyd-co., passed away at his home on Bolts Fork, March 27. He leaves a widow, seven children and two brothers to mourn his loss. Mr. Leslie was a soldier of the Civil war and served in the 14th Ky. Co. C. He was in several battles and did excellent service for his country. He leaves a large circle of friends and was loved by all who knew him. He has been an earnest Christian for many years and his life was an example to all who knew him. He expressed bright hopes for the future shortly before he died and when the end came passed away as gently as a child falling asleep. The funeral was preached at the home in the presence of the family and a large number of friends. His remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground, March 29.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

On Tuesday of this week the happy celebration of an unusual event took place in Louisa. It was the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William Carey. The sons and daughters arranged the celebration without the knowledge of their parents and it came to them as a most enjoyable surprise. A magnificent turkey dinner served at the home of the venerable couple was one of the features of the celebration, and the following composed the gathering who sat at the table with the guests of honor: Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Johnson, Jenkins; Lys Carey, Kavanaugh; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McDonald, Oklahoma; M. F. Carey and Mrs. G. B. Roberts and children, of Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Burchett, Jr., and son, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Carey and daughter, of Louisa; Mrs. George Parsons and son of Ashland.

It was hoped that all the eleven sons and daughters and their children would find it possible to attend, but the following were detained: George B. and C. J. Carey, of Lexington; Chas. W. Carey, Wilbur; Mrs. Chas. Johnston, in hospital at Ironton.

Handsomely engraved announcements, done in gold letters, were mailed to friends and relatives at the conclusion of the event.

It was on April 3, 1867, that William Carey and Miss Emily McGuffee joined hearts and hands for the journey of life. Eleven children came to bless their home and it is a remarkable fact that all are living. The parents are in good health and bid fair to have many more years of happy, peaceful existence. Not many couples are privileged to enjoy fifty years of wedlock and fewer yet of these are fortunate enough to rear a large family without the sad experience of death crossing the threshold. These good people are receiving the congratulations and best wishes of friends and relatives.

PLANT POTATO PEELINGS.

While it may not be news to the average reader, a fact worthy of consideration is, that potato peelings can be used for seed, just as well as the entire potato. Because of the high cost of living at this time, food specialists are advocating this method of planting. By cutting the peel a little heavy beneath the eyes, all of the plant life is saved, yet a large part of the potato is left for eating.

County Sunday School Work

At a very enthusiastic meeting of the ministers of the various churches in Louisa, and the superintendents of all the Sunday schools in Louisa held on Monday evening at the office of Augustus Snyder, it was decided that Lawrence county would do her share to make "Go to Sunday School Day," May 6, 1917, a success. The meeting was opened with an earnest prayer by Rev. Bostwick of the M. E. Church, after which M. S. Burns was elected chairman of the meeting. After an enthusiastic discussion of Sunday school work in Lawrence county, the following named people were appointed to co-operate with this committee and to especially work up interest for a great gathering in the Sunday schools of their districts. The following is a list of those named:

Sylvester Ball, Adams, Ky.; V. B. Shortridge, Glenwood, Ky.; Mrs. Sallie Gardner, Webbville, Ky.; Buck Elkins, Fallsburg, Ky.; George Kouns, Blaine, Ky.; Walter Arrington, Blaine, Ky.; A. Preston, Patrick, Ky.; Emey Holbrook, Skaggs, Ky.; Ed Lambert, Dontham, Ky.; William Burgess, Louisa, Ky.; Luke Alley, Louisa, Ky.; William Chapman, Georges creek, Ky.; Sanford Chandler, Lowmansville, Ky.; Drew Adams, Cherokee, Ky.; Miss Lizzie Hatten, Buchanan, Ky.; Thomas Murphy, Yatesville, Ky.; Elwood Hutchison, Russesville, Ky.; Mrs. Ella Ball, Russesville, Ky.; Roland Hutchison, Cadmus, Ky.

Strange to say, Lawrence county has not been challenged by any other county this year. We guess the reason is, that Lawrence county has won every contest, without an exception, in which she has engaged.

Among those present at the meeting we noticed Rev. Foglesong, Rev. Gaugh, and Rev. Bostwick, Augustus Snyder, C. B. Wellman, W. J. Vaughan, Allen O. Carter, K. C. McClure, James Cain, M. G. Berry, Willie Vaughan and C. F. See, Jr.

THE BIG SANDY SLOGAN.

The Grayson Journal says: Big Sandians have a slogan that may have originated in the long ago when river-men from up Sandy and river-men from up the Ohio sometimes met and fought at or near the junction of the two rivers. By standing together in self-defense the Big Sandians usually put their enemies to flight. After the manner of that day they sometimes boasted of these victories. Thus originated the slogan, "Big Sandy Against the World."

As the years went by there was less fighting. Then the boasting changed to boasting. The words of the slogan still survive, and, in its modified meaning, the spirit of the slogan still survives. Big Sandians still believe they can do things, and do them well. They still believe in each other and still boost each other.

One of the most optimistic and active of these boosters is M. F. Conley, of the Big Sandy News. He has been a booster for more than a quarter of a century. One result of his policy is that his paper holds first prize of the Kentucky Press Association as the best eight-page weekly paper in the State. He boasts Big Sandians wherever he finds them, those who have gone elsewhere as well as those who have remained at home.

RARE WALNUT TREE FOUND.

Some time ago the secretary of the Northern Nut Growers' Association found the hull of a wonderful walnut that came from a tree somewhere in the Ohio Valley and offered a sum of money to any one who could tell him where this tree grew, advertising for it in all the upper Ohio Valley papers.

A letter from Henry Eohl, near Mowrystown, O., who owns a farm on White Oak creek that empties into the Ohio near here, says that the tree from which this nut came grows on his place and is a black walnut, the nuts of which hull out exactly like the English walnut, the kernels coming out whole. He has harvested many bushels of them, but says that all of last year's crop is gone. He will save some of the nuts from the tree this year and send them to the secretary, or will send them to any one who may desire to plant them, as this particular species of the walnut tree is extremely rare, and he thinks he has the only one in this section of the country.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT COUGHS AND COLDS THE PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW

Whether this Cold will prove a simple catarrh of the nose and throat or of but short duration and mild character; whether dread Pneumonia, with its sharp and fatal sting, shall be the sequence; or whether the blighting blast of the White Plague shall sit spectre-like upon its victim no one can foretell, hence the great importance of treating all colds, however mild, promptly and energetically. In urban populations the services of a skilled physician are always within call, but in rural districts, distance and inclement weather often act together to forestall the doctor's timely aid, so that valuable time is in this way lost. It was particularly for this latter class of sufferers that MEINHARDT'S GERMAN COUGH REMEDY was invented. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callous so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callous, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callous loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain. A small bottle of freezone costs very little, at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callous. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.
If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

MOTHERS! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK, BILIOUS, CLEAN LITTLE LIVER AND BOWELS.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.
Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.
Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

An Heirloom

It Once Served as a Hiding Place

By SADIE OLCOTT

"Flora, here is a letter from Chesley, your Uncle William's lawyer, and he has inclosed a copy of the will."
"To whom has uncle left his property?" asked Flora.
"I can only speak for that enormous mahogany bedstead by which he set so much store—the gargoyle bedstead."
"Did he leave it to me?"
"Of course he did. Don't be foolish, my dear. Listen:
"I, William Gray, being of sound mind, etc., do give and bequeath to my grandniece, Isabel Gray, her heirs and assigns forever, my Sheraton sideboard and the sum of $200, to my grandniece, Flora Gray Winchester, her heirs and assigns the mahogany bedstead which stands in my own chamber and which is known as the gargoyle bedstead, together with the sum of $1,000."
"Where shall we put it, Harry?" interrupted Mrs. Winchester breathlessly.
"Put it? You don't expect to get it into this flat?"
"We must have it here. I wouldn't examine it there with Isabel looking on. And, besides, it is such a journey down to Richmond. Anyway, you cannot spare the time to go down now, and we must examine it together. I want to get it here as soon as possible. Who knows but Isabel or some of the others might find the diary of Nancy Gray and learn the secret? My inheritance would be worthless!" Mrs. Winchester's voice trembled.
"Oh, all right!" said Winchester tractably. "But how the deuce you expect to get it in here I don't quite see. It's a very large piece of furniture, isn't it?"
"Now, Harry, dear," she cried, with one plump hand upon his lips, "that bed must be got into this flat somehow! First I will finish my letter to Mr. Chesley and let Nora post it at once. I can hardly wait to see the bedstead, Harry, and I don't dare dream of what will be ours when the secret of the bedstead is disclosed. Do you think, dear, I was wrong not to tell Uncle William about the diary of Nancy Gray I found in the garret?"
"Well, truthfully speaking, I'm afraid it wasn't treating the old gentleman quite on the square."
Two weeks afterward, while Mr. Winchester was engaged in a most important business transaction, he was summoned to the telephone.
"Yes, this is Winchester. What? Oh, the bedstead there! I can't possibly leave at present. I can't help it. Tell them to send it up tomorrow. I know it's important—the bedstead! No, I didn't speak. Yes, I will come home early. Goodbye."
When he reached the Etruscan apartments that evening Winchester was fortified with a box of candy and a huge bunch of violets. He stepped to the elevator and pressed the button. A faint tinkle responded from some depth below.
Presently the janitor emerged from an obscure doorway and surveyed him with an unpleasant eye.
"It ain't a runnin'," he said gruffly.
"Poor management," commented Winchester as he prepared to conquer the eight flights that barred him from home and dinner.
"Huh!" exploded the man. "What with the freight elevator out or order, and people breakin' windows movin' in big stuff, and them chumps a-tryin' to put the feet board in my passenger car and a-tarin' a lady's dress, and her the landlady's sister-in-law!" He glared wrathfully at the vanishing form of Winchester.
Opening the door of his apartment, rampant disorder met his eye. A huge, dark form almost covered the floor of the tiny parlor, which in its chaotic disturbance looked strangely unfamiliar to the master of the house.
In the library Flora reclined on a couch before the bright gas log, while sympathetic Nora applied wet cloths to her mistress' aching head. Wreckage from the parlor impeded progress at every step.
"My dear girl!" he uttered.
She turned a weebone face to his. "Such a time as they had trying to get it in the window! They were saucy because the window was too small, and one of them pulled it in with a jerk, and it struck the chandelier. The pieces of glass fell on my Wedgwood vase, and that is broken! I—I am quite discouraged!"
With a restless glance toward the parlor, where the gigantic bedstead lay like some dark shadow on his little home, and with an unpleasant recollection of the smothering janitor below stairs and of the generous tip it would require to reduce him to his customary state of patronizing familiarity, Winchester endeavored to soothe his wife's shattered nerves, and together they obeyed Nora's summons to a belated dinner.
At table Mrs. Winchester drew a folded paper from her gown.
"This is the page I copied from the diary of Nancy Gray, Harry," she said, spreading it open before her. "I thought I would refresh my memory as to the exact location of the secret spring."
"Richmond, Va., April 21, 1864," read Mrs. Winchester in solemn accents. "I am greatly alarmed for the safety of Grandmother Blnpah's diamonds, and have vainly tried to find a hiding place for them. The Yankees are digging up every inch of ground on the adjacent plantations searching for buried treasure, and I am quite at a loss to find a safe place for our heirlooms."

"April 22.—Such an excellent ideal! I have just recollected that there is a secret hiding place in Grandmother Blnpah's mahogany bedstead. I will conceal the jewels there and will describe their hiding place so that in case anything happens to me one of our family may be able to recover them, even if the bedstead should be carried away."
"First, one must observe the row of hideously grinning faces—'gargoyles,' grandfather called them—that outline the top of the headboard; there are twenty-five of these gargoyles in all, and one must press the right eye of the thirteenth gargoyle from either end, when the face will swing outward, disclosing a cavity. Into this cavity I have dropped the leather bag containing the unset gems—they are worth many thousands of dollars—and I hope to recover them when the war is over."
Armed with hammer and screw-driver, husband and wife repaired to the parlor and locked themselves within, greatly to the disgust of the interested Nora, who availed herself of the keyhole as the only salve to her wounded self respect.
"My dear girl, how do you think I'm going to handle this thing alone? It weighs a ton! Why wasn't it put in the guest room?"
"The instant I saw it in the wagon I knew it would never fit into that room, so I told them to put it in here. We can remove it to the cellar afterward—or store it."
"It fits in here," remarked Winchester.
"Let us rip off the covering—I believe I know just where to place my finger on the spring! This is the headboard, of course, and here are the gargoyles!" cried Flora excitedly.
Winchester took out his knife and leisurely opened the blade. He lifted one corner of the bedstead, groaned and dropped it heavily.
There was a straining and snapping of cords as he applied his knife to the wrappings.
"Oh, Oh! I am just as nervous as I can be!" cried Flora, regardless of her husband's groan as he dragged aside the covering and disclosed the rounded, polished top outlined by a semicircle of hideously carved faces.
"Jove, what a beauty!" ejaculated Winchester, yet with a note of respect in his tone. "What a nightmare! Fancy wishing a guest 'pleasant dreams' and then introducing him to that couch! Whew! Now, which face, Flora, love?"
Mrs. Winchester triumphantly produced the paper from her laces and read solemnly: "The thirteenth gargoyle from either end."
"The one in the middle, of course," announced Winchester.
"Press the right eye," quoted Mrs. Winchester breathlessly. "I shall have them set in a glorious pendant, Harry!" They hung expectantly over the bed.
"Now press," she whispered sibilantly.
Winchester pressed.
"Nothing doing," he announced flatly.
"Press harder," urged his wife. "The secret spring has probably rusted. They do rust sometimes, don't they?"
"I never heard of one doing so. They always yield easily, and the door rolls noiselessly aside and leaves an aperture," said Winchester grimly.
"We must get it open!" cried his wife tearfully. "Try some of the other eyes, Harry."
"But why try the others, my dear? It says the middle one."
"There is—there must be a spring!" retorted Mrs. Winchester. "Why should Nancy have put it in her diary if there was not?"
"I give it up when you ask me to explain the vagaries of the female mind!" began Winchester as he viciously jabbed the eyes of all the gargoyles in turn without result.
Flora burst into tears.
"Don't cry, my darling," comforted her husband tenderly. "I'll find out the truth if I have to chop the confounded thing into kindlings!"
"I wish I understood the meaning of it anyway," said Winchester presently when his wife had reached a degree of tranquillity where she could nibble a bonbon appreciatively.
Again the tears flowed. "I might just as well have had another thousand dollars!" wailed Flora.
Winchester's elbow knocked a small package from the table to the floor.
"What is this?" he asked, picking it up.
"An express parcel that came this afternoon. I haven't had time to look at it."
He ripped off the covers and looked stupidly at a small leather volume in his hand.
"The Diary of Nancy Gray!" he exclaimed. A letter fell from the book, and he opened it eagerly.
"Read it!" commanded Flora impatiently. And he read as follows:
My Dear Mrs. Winchester—Your uncle, the late Mr. William Gray, has placed the little volume in my hands with instructions to turn it over to you after his death. Of course you are aware that your uncle wrote this fantastical little tale for his own amusement many years ago, but it was never published. You are probably in a position to recognize that your uncle's clever wit enabled him to take great liberties with your family history. As the present owner of the Gargoyles bedstead, this little book will prove to be of especial interest to you. Consulting you on the possession of such a valuable antique, and with kind regards, I am, very sincerely yours,
JEREMIAH CHESLEY.
The long silence was broken at last by a suppressed chuckle from Mr. Winchester.
His wife buried her face in the sofa pillows. "Brute!" she sobbed bitterly. And Winchester is still wondering whom she meant.

Mysterious Case.
Police chief Howard Johnston reports a strange find, which foretells a probable mystery and perhaps foul play and has caused considerable of a sensation. Police officers found on Sunday on the C. and O. bridge over Big Sandy a quantity of men's clothing, part of which was found on the Kentucky side and some on the West Virginia side. There were four silk shirts, size fifteen, four collars, size 14 3-4, three pairs trousers, one coat, two vests, two ties, one pair socks, five handkerchiefs. The articles were all marked "C. B." and there was a laundry bag marked "Charles." These articles, it is believed, belonged to Charles Beasley, of Danville, Va. The articles are being held and the case will be rigidly investigated. The articles suggest the wearer as belonging to the better class but what they were doing scattered thereabout is a deep mystery. The man may have been robbed and murdered and the body hidden while the clothing was abandoned for fear of detection.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR "SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY."
Kentucky's fourth "Go-to-Sunday-school day" will be May 6, and plans are under way to pass the attendance mark of former years. The day is set aside by the Kentucky Sunday-school Association, and when first inaugurated the slogan was "Get one million persons in Kentucky to attend." This year, however, the attendance is expected to be above that number. The plan met with approval of President Wilson, who each year has issued a special statement in regard to the day. Sunday-school heads are working hard to stimulate the attendance on Sunday-school day.

President Wilson's address to Congress Monday is pronounced one of the greatest State papers ever uttered. He was driven to the task and performed it reluctantly, but rose majestically to the occasion when it could no longer be avoided.

In every crisis in the United States there has been a bunch of pacifists. The patriots of the Revolution had to contend with them. Every President at the head of the nation in war times has been condemned and harassed by the same kind of a crowd that is now howling for this country to bow to the world's most terrible tyrant—the Kaiser of Germany.

The Revolutionary war could have been avoided simply by submitting to England's oppression. The wars of 1812 and of 1845 could have been avoided by the course now advocated by the pacifists of the United States. The war of 1860-5 could have been avoided if President Lincoln had refused to fight. The Spanish-American war was inexcusable from the standpoint of the pacifists. And now, they say, we should submit to the Kaiser's outrages and refuse to defend the rights and lives of our citizens. Neither President Lincoln, President McKinley nor President Wilson ever sought war. On the other hand they stood for peace to the limit of national endurance and self respect.

War is the most terrible of all human experiences, but it has been demonstrated by all history to be inevitable. Germany's despotic ruler determined to drive the United States into this war because he believes there are enough of his own subjects and traitors of their blood in this country to give us an internal war. Then he hopes to get Mexico and Japan to join him and give us very serious trouble.

If Mexico should form an alliance with Germany in this crisis the United States should not permit the war to end until she has crushed and conquered Mexico and annexed the territory. Not because we need or want the territory, but to avoid future trouble. This should have been done when our army marched into Mexico City in the 40s. If peace can not be maintained by the patience and forbearance exerted by President Wilson the case is absolutely hopeless.

POPULAR TEACHERS.

The Williamson, W. Va., News:—Prof. J. B. McClure, principal of Chatteroy Graded School, is here attending the Teachers Institute, and meeting his numerous friends in the city. He is one of the most progressive school men in the state and always meets with success wherever he locates.

Miss Chattie Sullivan, of Louisa, and a teacher in the Chatteroy Graded School, is in the city today attending District Institute and doing some shopping.

MANY BOATS PASS ASHLAND.

A man who is in position to know stated today that more boats pass Dam number twenty-nine which is located at East Ashland than any other dam in the Ohio river.

The same man stated that there would never be any more coal sent down the Ohio river from Pittsburgh, as the demand for coal in the vicinity of that city has become equal to the supply which is not as great by far as it used to be. He stated that in the future the Kanawha coal would supply most of the river shippings—Ashland Independent.

HONORS FOR MISS ANNIE POAGE.

Miss M. Annie Poage has been signally honored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The Kentucky organization has elected her a delegate to the national gathering to be held at Washington City this spring. In addition to that she was made president of the Kentucky Press delegation. Miss Poage is an enthusiastic member of the D. A. R., which stands of the head of all organizations composed of women. It is made of the highest type of American womanhood, necessarily, being descended from the greatest body of patriots who ever fought victoriously for freedom.

Miss Poage is probably the best known newspaper woman in Kentucky. She has been an important member of the Ashland Independent staff for many years. At a meeting of the Kentucky Press Association a year or two ago she read a paper that attracted

PROMINENT KENTUCKY WOMAN SPEAKS

Slaughterville, Ky.—"I wish to tell you of the benefit Dr. Pierce's medicines have been to us. Several members of my family have taken either 'Golden Medical Discovery' or 'Favorite Prescription' and always with the very best of results. Three years ago my husband had a very severe skin trouble. He took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' which he procured from a local druggist, and was entirely cured.

"Two years ago I had nervous trouble, heart affections and severe pains in my head. I took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and was relieved. I have taken it several times in the last few years and always with perfect results. I can recommend it to anyone as being all it is represented to be."—Mrs. S. P. COLLINGS, L. Box 112.

THAT WEAK BACK

Accompanied by pain here and there—extreme nervousness—sleeplessness—may be faint spells, chills or spasms—all are signals of distress for a woman. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood—passing from womanhood to motherhood—or later suffering from that change into middle life which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nerve prescribed for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has successfully treated more cases in the past 50 years than any other known remedy. It can now be had in sugar-coated tablet form as well as in the liquid. Sold by medicine dealers or trial box by mail on receipt of 50 cents in stamps.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate stomach, liver and bowels—sugar-coated, tiny granules.

more attention and elicited more comment than any other produced at that meeting.

We are glad to record the deserved honor bestowed upon Miss Poage in this instance. She will, of course, attend the meeting and take care of the better side of Kentucky's reputation.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Louisa who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Louisa man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Louisa resident can doubt.

G. E. Pigg, tinner and carpenter, Louisa, gave the following statement in June, 1909. "For several years I was frequently subject to severe attacks of kidney complaint. I suffered greatly with backache and had difficulty in passing the kidney secretions. Sometimes, the kidney secretions were profuse and then again scanty and highly colored. I got Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief."

Lasting Results.

On December 4, 1916, Mr. Pigg said: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago I have had no trouble with my kidneys. My back has kept strong and my kidneys have acted regularly."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Pigg has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

LETTER TELLS OF DEATH OF SENDER.

There is a story current in the city the purport of which is that the effect of German frightfulness has been directly felt in Huntington.

It has been impossible thus far to secure names in connection with this story, but reliable people vouch for its truth.

This is the story: Recently a Huntington woman, of German birth, received a letter from her sister in the old country.

It told about the members of the family, how many were in the army, how many were killed; how many wounded.

Down in one corner, outside of the body of the letter as written:

"This horrible war will never stop as long as the Kaiser lives—I hope somebody will kill him."

And this letter though it had been opened and read by the censor, was allowed to come to its destination.

But across the page from the embittered line concerning the Kaiser there appeared in bold German script these words: "Your sister was shot this morning."—Huntington Herald.

Elwood Elkins, a boy, was killed by hopping a train at Chattahoochee, W. Va., Saturday.

Rome Miles, 22, and Miss Hattie Pigg 18, daughter of Nonh Pigg, were married at the Clerks office Thursday afternoon.

HUNTINGTON'S STYLE CENTER AND LARGEST DEPARTMENT STORE

Concerning a Greeting, an Apology and a General Invitation to Visit Huntington's Largest Department Store and Style Center The Greeting--

We're glad, doubly glad to say hello, to shake the hands of staunch Kentuckians like you. We're proud to know, to number you among our acquaintances.

An Apology--

But we want to offer an apology for our tardiness, not that we didn't know that there were such good people in the Big Sandy Valley—far from that—but our ad man is pretty busy and with a good many irons in the fire it took some time to get around. (Still he is a Kentuckian and a Big Sandian at that)

An Invitation--

Now overlook our tardiness and come 'round to pay us that long deferred visit.
We want you to feel perfectly at home in Huntington's style center and largest department store.
There can be no doubt but what you'll find plenty to interest you.

REDUCTION SALE

Several months ago, when it was evident that all merchandise would increase in price, we placed large orders at the old prices and these goods have been delivered to us, until our store is packed and jammed. Prices increased more than expected, but we are absolutely compelled to reduce our stock and we are in fine position to drop far below the market and save you much money. Our regular prices are very low, but we are cutting these heavily. For instance:

Clothing, bargain at $20.00, reduced to $16

Clothing, bargain at $15.00, reduced to $12

These are not just a few suits to bring you in, but we have the largest stock ever shown here.

Shoes:

Enormous line of shoes all at cut prices. The best Crosset Shoes included.

Furnishings:

This sale includes our entire line of Men's and Boys Furnishing Goods.

We will engage in the merchandising business at another place within a few months, which is another reason for forcing down our stock here.

DELCO-LIGHT

ELECTRICITY FOR EVERY FARM

DELCO-LIGHT MAKES ELECTRICITY UNIVERSAL

For the first time electric light and power are available to anyone—anywhere. Heretofore, the benefits of electricity have been confined to those who live in the larger towns and cities. Now Delco-Light makes electric current universally available.

Delco-Light is today furnishing thousands of farm-houses with brilliant, convenient, safe and economical light. It is furnishing power to operate pumps, washing machines, churns, cream separators, milking machines, vacuum cleaners, etc. It is lighting country churches, stores and public halls. It is furnishing light and power to summer homes and camps, to houseboats and yachts, etc.

Delco-Light is a complete electric plant—the engine and dynamo in one compact unit combined with a set of specially built and wonderfully efficient batteries for the storing of current. The plant is so simple a child can care for it, and so economical that it actually pays for itself in time and labor saved. It operates on either kerosene, gasoline or natural gas.

Boys Run Away.

Jimmie France, 14, son of Jim France and Henry Hickman, 12, son of Rhode Hickman walked to Marrowbone, a station 12 miles from Hellier where they caught the C. & O. Ashland bound train enroute to Portsmouth. Mr. Hickman immediately telephoned the Pikeville police to apprehend them, however they had already passed through Pikeville, and the last seen of them was at Louisa. Mr. Hickman took the next train and is hot on their trail. Later:—Word has been received from Mr. Hickman that he located both boys in Portsmouth and that they had secured a job at the rate of 50c per day as helpers on a delivery truck of a department store. Presumably the boys had been lead to believe that they would get rich over-night in the city, but they found it quite different. Mr. Hickman has now returned home with the boys and they say that home is the best place after all.

To the Farmers of Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia

For months we have been making inquiries for Cane seed best adapted to this climate. We have located two grades adapted to this climate and will have these seed for distribution in a week. If you will want cane seed write or call on us and we will give you full particulars. The seed we have are early and good producers.

If you have never planted cane before, why not plant this year. We are working overtime producing a market for SORGHUM and we hope by fall to be able to place the entire crop where it will bring the best price and prevent an over production. We are as anxious as you to create a market for BIG SANDY SORGHUM, which will give the farmer sufficient compensation to warrant heavy production.

We will have agencies established at all railway points on all railways in the producing section. We will make it as convenient for the Farmers as possible. There will be no danger of overproduction. If you fear this, contract with us now. A contract will guarantee you the price, regardless of business conditions, and you will know in advance the price you will get.

We will have sufficient barrels for this purpose but they will be furnished to contractors first. The first people in will be the first served.

The seed we have are better producers than ever introduced before. Plant a crop this year if you have never done so before and arrange with us for its disposition and we will treat you right.

If you want seed come at once.

the household goods were ruined. The fire enveloped in a mass of flames due to the high velocity of the wind at the time. A bucket brigade was formed as rapidly as possible and several fire extinguishers were put in use to check the flames, but were of no avail. As Mr. Bradley's store was next door, everything was done to save the building from destruction, altho the contents were previously carried to safety. After a hard fight the store building was saved. When anything happens the good people of Hellier always respond quickly.

Bride And Groom Return.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Arnold, who spent a delightful honeymoon in Huntington, Louisville, Baltimore and New York have returned to Hellier where they will make their future home. Mr. Arnold is good hearted fellow and of course set the boys up with all the beer and cigars they wanted. We wish them the best luck in the world.

Fine Residence Erected.

Flem Childers has moved into his new home which is up to date in every detail and which he is justly proud of.

Record Breaking Crowd.

One of the biggest crowds ever in the Princess Theatre was there last Saturday night when the last chapter of the Lass of the Lumberlands was shown. Every seat in the house was taken, moreover a person could hardly get through the aisle, let alone a seat. The last chapter showed where an automobile went over a cliff and a head on collision with a fast passenger train and street car. It was thrilling all the way through. We hope that the theaters here will get another picture as good.

Plenty Of Work In Hellier.

There is six mines in and near Hellier of which all are working and getting out an abundance of coal. Lots of cars are coming in now and no one is complaining of shortage of work.

Edgewater Wins Game.

In a baseball game played Sunday between Hellier and Edgewater league, Edgewater scored 18, while Hellier went down in defeat to 5. Awful to think about, isn't it? What's the trouble Hellier boys?

BITS OF SAYING
By Harry Cohen

Some people pretend to be your friend, however they are a mere pretense.

Lying under the shade of an apple tree with a wish bone gets you nothing. It takes a back bone to reach the desired spot.

You may make friends by promising, but it will take the performance to keep them.

How to get rich quick: watch the success of others and in the meantime leaving your business to take care of itself.

You have got all to lose and nothing to gain by "knocking." Remember the people take it for granted that the one doing the speaking is usually the case, and not the one spoken of.

Some people get utterly defeated, yet they cling on to the idea that they are right.

Leading a simple life is essential to one's health. It is never too late to start when you are on your death bed.

HELLI-ER

EDITOR NEWS:—I have just been reading Harry Cohen's Helli column in the NEWS and I am moved thereby to remarks as follows:

I've read about a lot of towns

In which bad things occur,

And while they may be helly, say,

There's one that's Helli.

I don't know whether there is more truth than poetry in these lines, but whichever it is, it is up to Cohen. Yrs., W. J. LAMPTON.

Fire extinguishers were rushed to the scene from the postoffice and from the store of Cohen & Stryk, and were put immediately into use that saved the building and greater Helli from ruin. Quiller Huff was badly burned about the hands and face. The people of Helli deserve to be congratulated for their quickness in responding.

too so big it was murder to put on my shoe. I used salves and other things that ate off more of the toe than they did the corn. I'd cut and dig with knives and scissors, but now no more fooling for me. Two drops of "Gets-It" did all the work. It makes the corn shrivel and get so loose that you can just pick it right off with your fingers!"

DIZZY SPELLS

Relieved After Taking Two Bottles Of Cardui, Says Tennessee Lady.

Whitwell, Tenn.—Mrs. G. P. Cartwright, of this place, writes: "About four years ago the dizzy spells got so bad that when I would start to walk I would just pretty near fall. I wasn't past doing my work, but was very much run-down."

I told my husband I thought Cardui would help me, as a lady who lived next door to me had taken a great deal, and told me to try it. This was when we were living in Kentucky.

My husband got me a bottle and I took it according to directions. It helped me so much that he went back and got me another bottle. I got a whole lot better and just quit taking it. I got over the dizzy spells...I took no other medicine at that time nor since for this trouble. No, I've never regretted taking Cardui.

I felt just fine when I finished the second bottle.

Purely vegetable, mild and gentle in its action, Cardui, the woman's tonic, may be the very medicine you need. If you suffer from symptoms of female troubles, give Cardui a trial. All druggists.

PLOT TO DESTROY THREE R. R. BRIDGES BY GERMAN SPIES.

Suspected Men Came In Automobiles—Evade Officers And Get Away.

To destroy the Kanawha and Michigan Railway Bridge over the Ohio river at Point Pleasant, the Norfolk and Western Bridge at Kenova, and the C. and O. Bridge over the Guyan river at Guyandotte, is reported to be the plot of men suspected of being agents of the German government who have been in and around Charleston for the past day or two. These three railways are the ones over which coal going to the Middle West is carried out of West Virginia, and the coal supply to many of the manufacturers would be shut off if these were destroyed.

The finding of a "shootbox" used in exploding dynamite and high explosives in the vicinity of Point Pleasant created quite a disturbance there Tuesday evening. The box contained an electric switch, a number of electric wires, and it was supposed that these articles were brought there for the purpose of destroying the K. & M. bridge, since it was found not to be the property of any of the section crew operating there.

The railway bridge at Point Pleasant is being patrolled by a company of the national guard of Ohio numbering approximately 60, and yesterday Governor Cox ordered Company E, of the Third Ohio regiment, to be stationed there in addition to those already on the spot. These companies are camped at Kanauga.

For some time the government has had guards stationed at the Norfolk and Western bridge at Kenova.

Men suspected of being German agents were registered at Hotel Ruffner on Tuesday night, and were kept under surveillance by secret service men. It is reported that these men came to Charleston in an automobile, and that

After the Grip—What?

Did it leave you weak, low in spirits and vitality? Influenza is a catarrhal disease, and after you recover from the acute stage much of the catarrh is left. This and your weakness invite further attacks.

The Tonic Needed is Peruna.

First, because it will assist in building up your strength, reinvigorating your digestion and quickening all functions. Second, because it aids in overcoming the catarrhal conditions, helping dispel the inflammation, giving the membranes an opportunity to perform their functions.

Thousands have answered the question after grip by the proper use of this great tonic treatment. You may profit by their experience.

Liquid or tablet form—both safe and satisfactory.

MORE THE MERRIER.

"Don't you find your telephone a great convenience?" bubbled Mrs. Lightnin. "You can sit at home and talk all over town."

"Yes," admitted Aunt Susanna, dolefully, "it is handy, but it's only a two-party line. My sister Deborah down in the country is on a six-party line, and she can hear the gossip of the whole district."

Frankfort, Ky., March 28.—The Baker graded school district, in Letcher-co., where the school war between the trustees and teachers, resulted in State Supt. Gilbert ending the term and ordering the election of a new Board of Trustees, is affected by an opinion of Assistant Attorney General Charles H. Morris, holding that the town of Fleming will take in all but the narrow rim of the Baker district.

The incorporated town of Fleming has extended beyond the limits of the original Fleming graded district and projects well into the Baker district. Construing Section 4432 of the School Law, Gen. Morris said he thinks the law contemplates that an incorporated municipality shall control all school matters within its limits and that its graded district should embrace all the territory within the municipality.

As Fleming is a coal town and it is desired to have first-class schools as an inducement to hold the miners, the decision will afford good educational advantages for that portion of the old Baker district included in the town, and the rest of the district will have to join or get along as best it can with its limited resources.

Elkins, W. Va., March 30.—William, eight year old son of Robert Kittle, of Gilmer, died last night in a local hospital as the result of being run over by a train yesterday while playing on the tracks. His legs were crushed off. He was the last of the three children of the family, the other two having died recently from eating some kind of wild winter berries.
